

WOVEN TALES OF LIGHT

The Shaman's Art of Cloth and Stone

Washington D.C. offers a rich venue of energy for the learning or practicing shaman.

A weaving of bustling city, political center, natural parklands, and mythic sculptures, provides extraordinary backdrop resources. Step into invisibility and track or sense these energetic sources to develop your medicine, to refresh and revision your journey, to offer your blessings to the earth in ceremony through this heart place of the US.

Our adventure starts with a "Shamanic" Tour of the Mall, on Thursday followed by a 3-days Experiential Workshop flowing with the mysteries and energetic practices of Cloth and Stone.

For practicing shaman and energy workers, those in training, and those just beginning the journey, this experiential workshop offers multi-faceted opportunities for personal development, and building of client skills.

We are delighted to be working in co-creation with Cherry-Lee Ward and Sara Salam, to bring you this joyful, powerful, and transformative work.

Join us for this weekend of deep ceremony.
